In order to get through all of the content required, and to familiarize you with the course, you will have a summer assignment covering the first unit of study. You do NOT need a textbook for this assignment. The reading for this assignment is posted on my school webpage. You WILL have a test on August 24th on this information. This assignment is due with the test.

If you have any questions, please e-mail me at: m.mullen@bonita.k12.ca.us

It is recommended you start this assignment 10 days before the start of the Fall semester.

You are highly encouraged to do this assignment in SECTIONS. Read a chapter, watch the video lecture, go over your notes from both, and then answer the review questions for that chapter. Take a day or two off, then repeat the process. This is NOT to be done in one night, as it will take several hours of your time. It is important to practice proper time management NOW so you are prepared for the coming school year.

Directions: Answer the following questions in 4-6 sentences each. I am not looking for Hemingway-esque sentences here, either. I recommend reading a section of the chapter completely BEFORE answering the questions. THIS MUST BE HANDWRITTEN!

Remember: I am NOT asking you to write a summary of the textbook. I am asking you to THINK about the questions and develop your own answers based off reading.

Example Question: What effect did the Battle of New Orleans have on the war? on Andrew Jackson's career?

Example Answer: The War of 1812 ended in 1814 with the Treaty of Ghent, signed between the US and Great Britain. While the war focused mainly in the North, there were some battles on the Southern and Western frontiers of the United States. One such battle was the Battle of New Orleans, which actually occurred 3 weeks after the Treaty of Ghent was signed. In the battle, Andrew Jackson and 4,000 US soldiers faced 11,000 British soldiers, and inflicted heavy casualties while only losing comparatively few US soldiers. This battle proved to be an important military victory for the US. Defending New Orleans was important for the US, as it was the mouth of the Mississippi River, which was the heart of American shipping in the newly opened West. For Andrew Jackson, the commanding officer for the US, it proved him to be the only real military hero of the war, and brought him to national prominence, eventually leading to his presidency.
